Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX helps you aim for success!

The structure of the supplier market in the automobile industry is changing in increasingly rapid cycles. Independent suppliers no longer exist in the traditional sense. Car manufacturers have increasingly close ties to their suppliers, and place ever more complex requirements on them – shorter delivery times, more responsibility, lower costs and faster throughput times. Automotive suppliers are included in production networks which are international in nature and operate in various languages.

Atos has put more than 35 years of automotive expertise into Microsoft Dynamics AX, and has a proven track record in all conceivable production and delivery scenarios

Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX provides you with the expertise to constantly increase added value. We have active experience in supplying all major OEMs and in all variations of supply processes. Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX helps shape the developments and always provides you with the latest technology for cooperating and communicating with your customers.

Whether you work from a single location or operate worldwide, Atos provides global rollouts and project management from a single source. Just get in touch!

EFFICIENCY

Thousands of companies around the world already use Microsoft Dynamics AX's unique combination of proven, scalable functionality and innovative technology. By always focussing on the needs of the supplier industry and on expert project management, Atos guarantees fast, reliable system implementation in terms of time and budget.

AUTOMOTIVE PROCESSES

The Atos Automotive Solution adds all the important functions for automotive suppliers to Microsoft Dynamics AX. Thirty five years of expertise in the automotive industry are reflected in the mapping of standardized processes along VDA, ODETTE, EDIFACT and ANSI X.12 guidelines, in the implementation of customer processes (such as PickupSheet, AMES-T, BELOM, L3P, RAN, EDL, consignment and in-line processing) and in the deep integration of messaging components. Atos works closely with the OEMs and associations (VDA, ODETTE, Galia, AIAG) and is already familiar with the requirements which will affect suppliers in future.

These features include options for flexible reaction to fluctuations in demand during series processes and the implementation of topics such as differential observation of delivery call-offs, packaging, shipping documents, loading units, backflush reassignment of parts lists and much more besides. Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX will accompany you through all stages of your company's growth.

Its modular structure allows you to only use the modules you really need.

You decide whether to use local structures or to network multiple locations.

ALL-ROUND

PROCESS SUPPORT

Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX has many functions for the typical business processes of medium sized companies – from manufacturing via distribution, supply chain management, customer relationship management, project management and personnel management to financial management.

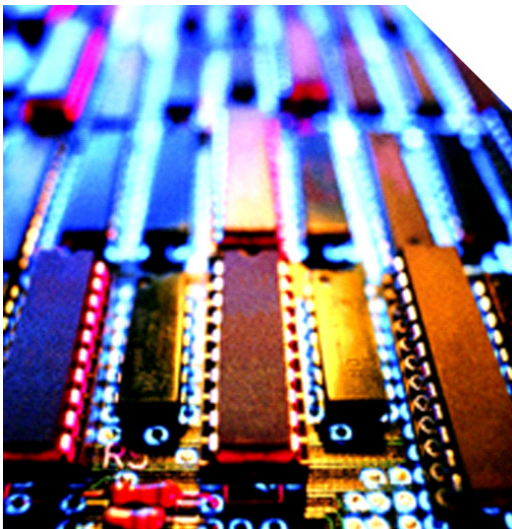

As well as this, the solution has a business analysis module which allows you to quickly prepare targeted information from your solution in order to make decisions.

Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX was developed for Windows and the Web right from the start. This allows you to quickly, easily and inexpensively expand your business processes to the Internet. In this way, you can open up new business fields and dynamically connect your partners and suppliers to your company.

SYSTEM PHILOSOPHY

Automotive Supplier for Microsoft Dynamics AX enables you to meet all requirements for automotive suppliers and 3PLs thanks to lean integration, direct further processing and all the advantages of collaborative business in a uniform and inexpensive manner. This lifts the restrictions on your internal business processes, because you can include suppliers, business partners and customers in your planning processes, regardless of size or location.
